Calgary Forklift Safety Training

Calgary Forklift Safety Training - People wanting work in companies that use forklifts should undergo a forklift safety training program before becoming a certified operator of a lift truck. There are a lot of ways to go about getting forklift safety training. Courses are provided through workforce training agencies, company forklift certification programs, and approved on line and video programs. The price can be minimal (or free of charge) when offered by occupational safety officers on job sites or through employment agencies.

In nearly all countries, lift truck operators are required to be over the age of 18 years old. Local industry bodies together with local and federal authorities could approve the forklift safety training programs. They require that operators acquire forklift certification prior to operating a forklift machine. A certificate is valid for four years in most areas. Businesses which hire workers to drive forklift trucks could face serious liability issues if operators fail to keep this certificate up to date.

Untrained forklift operators can cause property damage and serious injury because of incorrect utilization of the equipment. Training consists of the right driving and loading methods. Employees must pass a written exam to be able to be certified. A company would usually designate a supervisor to provide hands-on training to new employees. A qualified supervisor should have extensive training in lift truck safety and be trained as a trainer.

Those seeking employment as forklift operators have options for obtaining forklift safety training and certification. Lift truck training may be available through a workforce development agency or an employment agency. Individuals seeking employment as forklift operators could enroll in forklift safety training programs delivered by an approved trainer at an independent site. Manual laborers could find more job opportunities if they have lift truck certification.

The internet provides another alternative for individuals seeking forklift safety training. Training is delivered via online and video formats. Then again, certification generally requires that students write an exam and take a lift truck driving test.